

Conference on Camera:

Top left, at the conference welcome evening on 22 September, Wally Dove, a member of the Royal Pharmaceutical Society's Council and a former chairman of the National Pharmaceutical Association, left, with Terry Hannawin, current chairman of the NPA. Top right, also at the welcome evening, left to right, Hemanti Patel, member of the Royal Pharmaceutical Society's Council, Paul D. Spivey, PECS Ltd, Janet Krska, a governor of the College of Pharmacy Practice, and Stephen Curtis, director, Unit for Health Service Development, University of London. Centre right, conference participants in the foyer of the Manchester International Convention Centre, where the pharmacy practice research posters were on display. Bottom left, conference participants viewing the science poster presentations on 23 September. Bottom right, conference participants enjoying lunch outside the convention centre on 23 September

Manchester, 2002

Top left, left to right, at the welcome evening, Edward Mallinson, specialist in pharmaceutical public health, Lanarkshire NHS Board, Dr Gordon Geddes, head of information and technical services, Pharmaceutical Services Negotiating Committee, and Dr Sheila Stevens, secretary of the Royal Pharmaceutical Society in Scotland. Top right, the President of the Royal Pharmaceutical Society, Marshall Davies, at the conference opening session on 23 September. Centre left, at a pre-banquet reception on 23 September, left to right, Dr Steven Kayne, Glasgow, Professor Terry Healey, head, school of pharmacy, Robert Gordon University, Aberdeen, Dr Lee Kayne, Glasgow, and Andy Christopherson, president of the British Pharmaceutical Students Association. Bottom left, a general view of the banquet. Bottom right, Professor Michael Schofield, member of the Royal Pharmaceutical Society's Council, giving an after-dinner speech at the banquet