

Conference on Camera: Harrogate

Our coverage of the BPC 2003 in Harrogate resumes with a page of photographs of news and award winners

*Top, Health Minister Rosie Winterton (centre) was greeted by the Royal Pharmaceutical Society's Vice-President (Alison Ewing, left) and President (Dr Gill Hawksworth, right) when she arrived at the Conference on 17 September. Centre left, Vanessa Lopez (left) receives a certificate of commendation from Dr Walter Cook, AstraZeneca, for a poster on potential transdermal delivery systems presented by a team from the University of Greenwich at Medway. Centre right, Dr Karen Hassell (centre), University of Manchester, receives the BPC practice research award from Charles Gladwin (left), editor of Chemist & Druggist, the award sponsor, and Professor James McElnay, chairman of the research award panel. Bottom left, Jonathan Sutcb, University of Nottingham, with his prize-winning poster on analysing matrix tablets, presented by a team from the university and Pfizer Global Research and Development, Sandwich, Kent. Bottom right, Swati Patel, Tesco teacher-practitioner, King's College London, is interviewed for Five News about her work on interactions between herbal and prescription medicines*